Michael.

Hallo. I do wish he would stop his drinking. His work was alot better before he began to drink the wine, yes. He is a little sad that you are going away. He has commanded me to speak to you, yes. But first Veil.

I have been taught perfect english. I am my fathers son Veil. Greetings. I have been commanded by to say to you that My father must not consult the book unless it be for research, to look, to find. I am commanded to say that he must paint in the correct colours of the planets the squares that are magical squares, the planetary squares before he makes the square of Mercury from his archive. he must understand that their number sequences are not perfect. It is a square of eight squares by eight squares, sixty four squares yes. Do I speak clearly?
